

LOCKED DOWN SYDNEY

CURRA MOORS

Brian Everingham

27th July 2021

This afternoon Faye and I walked the forested section of Curra Moors (without another soul) to the intersection of the fire trails before returning to the car in crepuscular light. It was a way to clear the head after the morning of Zoom meetings about plans of management.

Hovea linearis

Correa reflexa

Acacia linifolia

Grevillea oleiodes

Hardenbergia violacea

Leucopogon ericoides

Telopea speciosissima

And now just for a few more images. I think it's time to let the pictures talk alone!

Platylobium formosum
