The entrance to the lower car park

Discretely placed garbage areas

Note that on a “quiet” day the lower car parking spaces were already fully occupied. Much more space has been set aside for buses in that area.

Bus parking bay

Filtered drainage lines to control and clear any water running into the creek and lagoon

I am not sure how business is going but the bus is on the run

Covered picnic tables

Staff at work cleaning the new barbecue plates

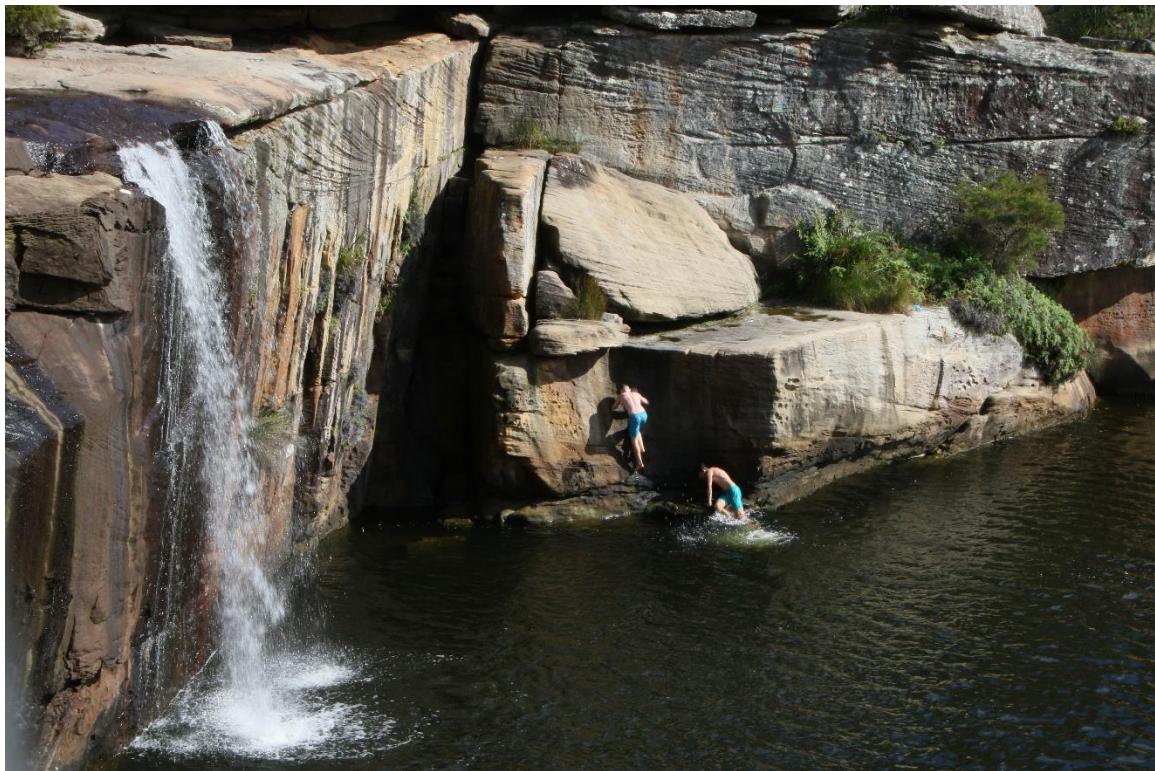

Landscaped approach to view the lagoon

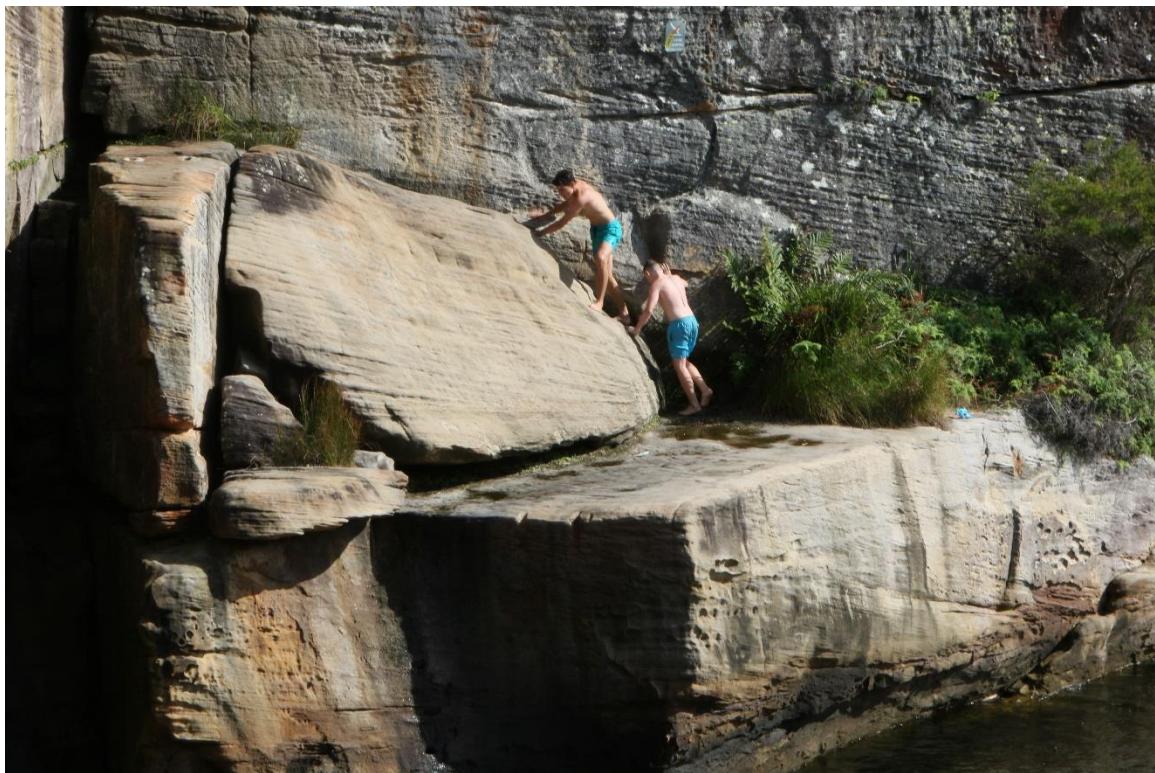

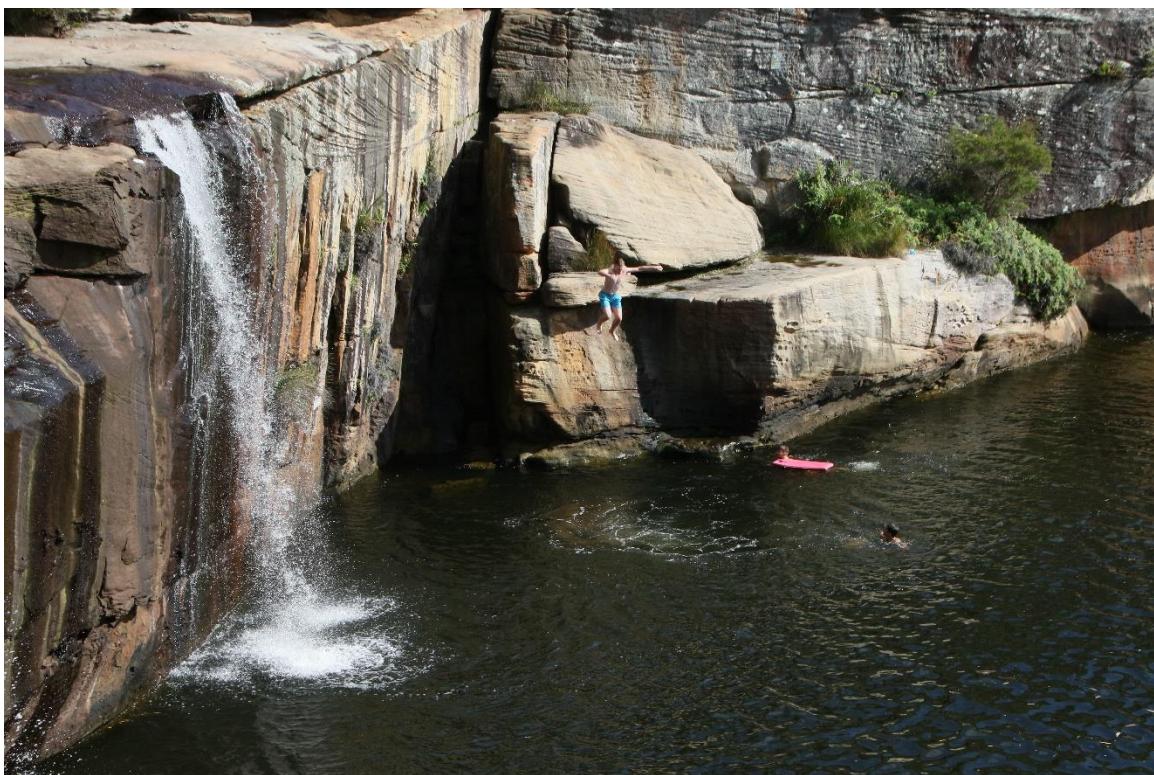

Has a life-saver been in place over the summer?

Boys will still be boys

By then the crowds were arriving so I departed for the safety of a quiet bushy area.
